

Ana Jimenez Palomar

Ana JP Design is the London based studio of Ana Jimenez Palomar, a Mexican designer trained at Central Saint Martins. The studio makes bespoke conceptual furniture inspired by the heritage and personal experience of Ana's Mexican culture, and is characterised by unexpected surreal shapes, bold colour and humour. Ana has an interest in researching and analysing her experiences as an outsider and translating these to furniture and spaces. With this approach, Ana aims to give a fresh perspective on the conventional and the expected. The furniture designed by the studio is usually large and always visually dominant in order to provide a centrepiece from which a space can be inspired by and built around.
