▼ MASTERS OF SEX

Ever wondered about the science of intimacy? The Wellcome Collection's Institute of Sexology exhibit – Undress Your Mind – chronicles the ins-and-outs [ahem] in NSFW detail. November 20 until September 2015, wellcomecollection.org

▲ BEHIND THE MASK OF ANONYMOUS

Hacking: not just for the lulz. In her book, Hacker, Hoaxer, Whistleblower, Spy (Verso), academic Gabriella Coleman provides a thorough history of Anonymous and the current state of hacktivism. Out November 4

▲ FOLK GAME

In Never Alone, from Alaska-based Upper One games, players solve puzzles based on traditional Iñupiaq folk tales. The aim: to preserve Alaskan storytelling traditions for future generations in a gorgeous scrolling adventure. neveralonegame.com

◀ MEXICAN FURNITURE

London-based designer Ana Jimenez has designed the eye-popping Los Enmascarados furniture range, which is based on traditional Mexican combat masks. Note: not to be wrestled with. anajimenez.com

▼ CHINESE ART

In his City Stream series, Chinese painter Lu Xinjian translates brutal cityscapes – including roadways and bridges – into vector art. Who knew a monolithic motorway junction could be made into something so beautiful? xinjianlu.com

▲ HOLY TIE-INS, BATMAN!

LEGO is taking over the DC Comics stable for November. Twenty-two key titles, including Catwoman and Teen Titans, will feature customised covers as a nod to LEGO Batman 3: Beyond Gotham. dccomics.com

◀ SILICON VALLEY SUPERHERO

Kapow! Blam! Er, Lean In? Facebook's Sheryl Sandberg is now star of her own comic, courtesy of Bluewater Productions. Other heroes of the Female Force series include Michelle Obama and Hillary Clinton. bluewaterprod.com
